Mayor's Message

I am very proud to present Bundaberg Region 2031, Council's guiding strategy that will steer the direction of the Bundaberg region over the next twenty years and beyond.

Bundaberg Region 2031 provides an opportunity for Council, our community and government to develop and deliver a Vision together.

The Bundaberg region is an outstanding place to live in and visit, characterised by its rich red soils and diverse industry base, beautiful natural landscape and excellent lifestyle appeal. Its dynamic and growing community is home to almost 100,000 people – a figure expected to reach 160,000 by the year 2031.

Our diverse and growing community is multi-dimensional in terms of age, background, culture and overall mix, providing Bundaberg Regional Council with some unique challenges, but great opportunities.

The future is difficult to predict but we can be certain of one thing – the Bundaberg region will continue to grow. Council's objective is to harness that growth and ensure that our residents enjoy a positive future, and one that resembles the place you've described through your valuable input into developing this plan. While we have together already achieved a great deal, our work towards achieving our vision for the Bundaberg region - vibrant, progressive, connected and sustainable – has only just begun.

On behalf of the Bundaberg Regional Council I would like to thank the community for your enthusiastic support of Bundaberg Region 2031. Our Council is committed to delivering Bundaberg Region 2031 and working with the community and other stakeholders to ensure that the Vision is realised. I hope you will take the time to read this document and continue to provide Council with your thoughts on our future.

Councillor Lorraine Pyefinch
MAYOR, BUNDABERG REGIONAL COUNCIL

Introduction

Bundaberg Region 2031 is a document that defines and strategically plans the Bundaberg region's community vision for the future.

Bundaberg Region 2031 covers the Bundaberg Regional Council local government area, and reflects the uniqueness and diversity of our many distinct local communities. The plan defines a long term vision for our region with ambitious aspirations, in keeping with the Queensland Local Government Act 2009, which requires local governments to develop long-term community plans covering at least ten years.

Expanding on the long term overarching vision, Bundaberg Region 2031 details seven community outcome areas that are considered vital for the future of the region. For each of these outcome areas, Bundaberg Region 2031 outlines various priorities, goals and catalysts from Council and the community, designed to achieve the community's preferred vision for our future – Bundaberg region: vibrant, progressive, connected and sustainable.

This plan is a blueprint for residents, businesses, governments, organisations and Council to work together for a better region. It provides for ongoing planning by other governments, community and local industry in order to maintain the reasons we enjoy living here, and enhance the unique qualities of the region for future generations.

Bundaberg Region 2031 was developed by more than 3,000 local community, business, industry and government leaders who participated in various information and feedback processes.

A diverse Stakeholder Engagement Program was developed to guide the plan from its methodology through its various stages, resulting in at least 40 different engagement activities including the ‘Your 2031’ community survey, regional visioning workshops, key community group briefings, Community Connect and School Connect newsletters and constant dialogue ensured the community was part of the plan.

We considered numerous emerging issues relevant to our region’s future, including our ageing population, changing lifestyles, the pressure on natural resources and our environment, the need to support a safe and healthy community, create positive employment outcomes for local people and improving our connections within and outside our region.

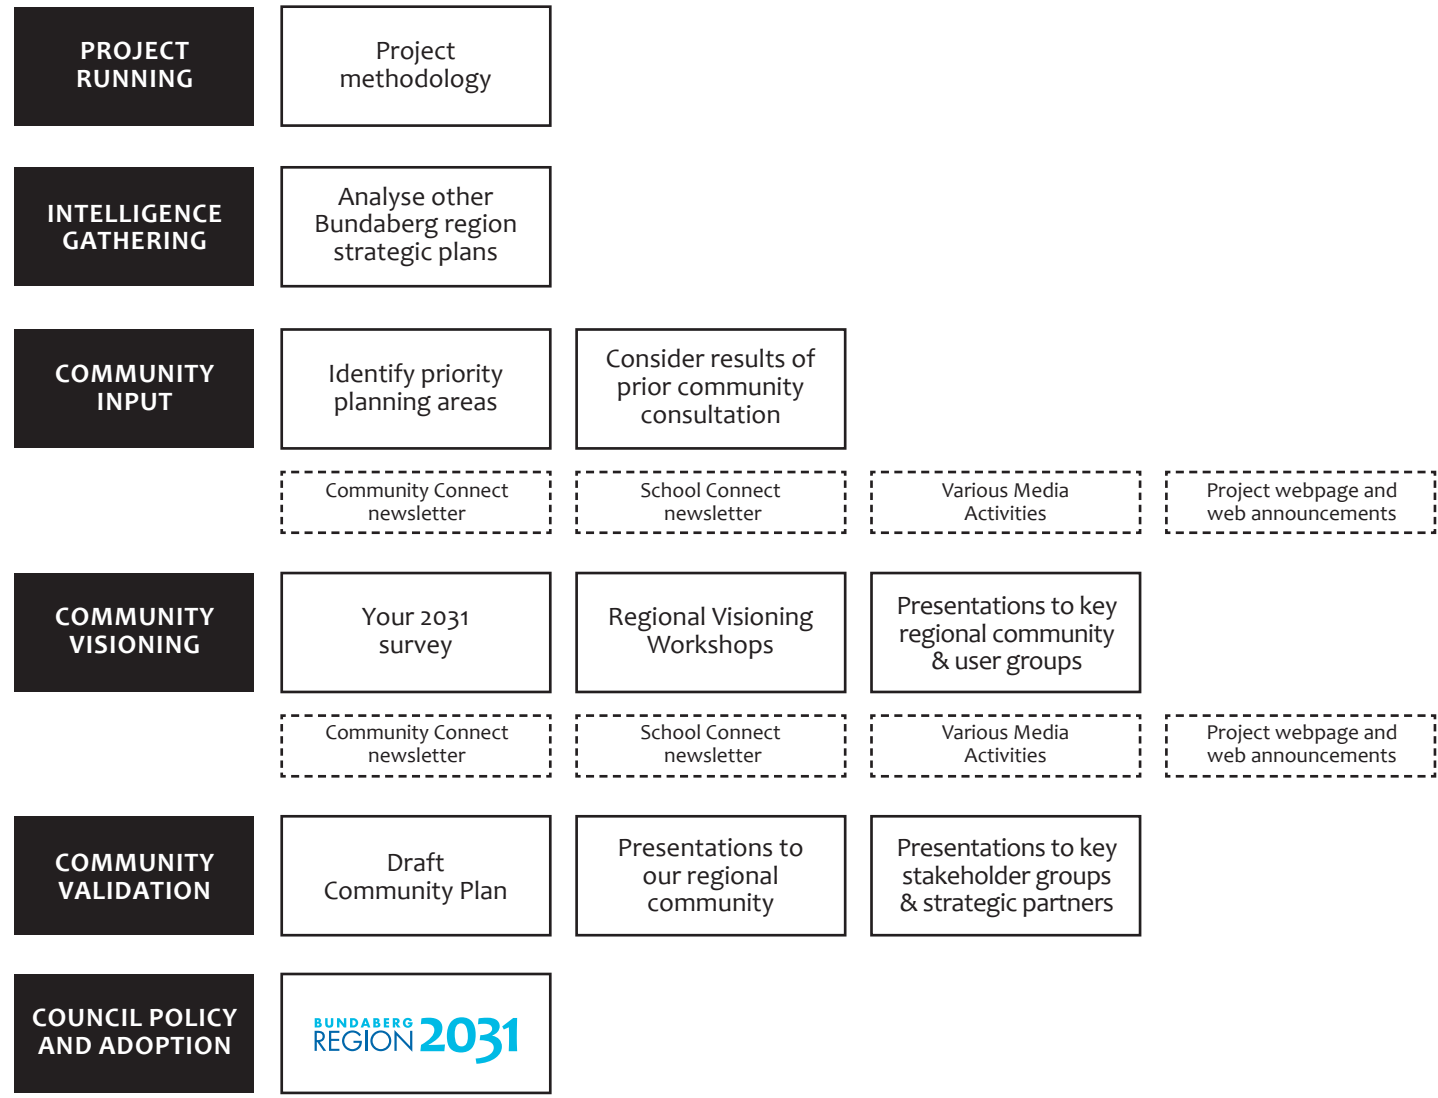

Drawing on this vast array of over 776 visions, ideas, suggestions and opinions, Council developed a draft plan. This draft plan was released for further public consultation and then refined in response to various items of community feedback, culminating in Bundaberg Region 2031, a document developed by our community outlining our community’s desired twenty-year vision.
